

St David

A Kind and Fair Man

A long time ago, a man named Saint David lived in Wales. He was kind to everyone and believed in fairness. He taught people to help others and to live simply. This means they did not need lots of things to be happy. Instead, they focused on working hard, sharing, and being grateful for what they had.

Saint David also told people to be kind to animals and to share with others. He wanted the world to be a fair and happy place. He built a monastery where people could come together, pray, and learn how to live a good life. Even today, people in Wales remember him on Saint David's Day. They wear daffodils and leeks, which are special symbols of Wales. Schools and communities celebrate with songs, stories, and parades to honour his memory.

Glossary

- Saint David - The main saint of Wales.
- Fairness - Treating everyone the same way and being just.
- Simply - Living without too many things or luxuries.
- Kind - Being nice and helpful to others.
- Monastery - A place where people live, pray, and learn about their faith.
- Daffodils - A yellow flower that is a symbol of Wales.
- Leeks - A vegetable that is also a symbol of Wales.

Questions

1. Who was Saint David?
2. What did Saint David teach people to do?
3. What special symbols do people wear on Saint David's Day?
4. How do people in Wales celebrate Saint David's Day?

ACE Questions

- . Analyse: Why do you think Saint David wanted people to live simply?
- . Create: Draw a picture of how people celebrate Saint David's Day.
- . Evaluate: Do you think being kind and fair is important? Why?