

Should Pokémon cards be allowed in school?

Some people think Pokémon cards should be allowed in school. Others say they cause problems. Let's look at both sides.

Some people say yes

Pokémon cards are fun to collect and swap. Children can learn to take turns, talk kindly and organise their cards. Some people think trading cards teaches children how to be fair.

Some people say no

Sometimes Pokémon cards cause problems. Children can argue or fall out. There might even be fighting or stealing. Some children feel left out if they don't have any cards.

My opinion

I think Pokémon cards should be allowed in school, but teachers could help make rules so everyone is safe and happy.
